Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try the celebrated PLANTATION BITTERS, which are now recommended by the highest medical authorities, and are warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure, and must supercede all other tonics where a healthy, gentle stimulant is required.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya Bark, wintergreen, sarsaprae, roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix rum. For particulars, see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.

Beware of impostors. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private U. S. stamp unmutilated over the cork with plantation scene, and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. ☞ See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. ☞Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in bulk, is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle, or selling any other material therein, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U. S. Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters, from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

Have you a hurt child or a lame horse? Use the Mexican Mustang Liniment.

For cuts, sprains, burns, swellings and caked breasts, the Mexican Mustang Liniment is a certain cure.

For rheumatism, neuralgia, stiff joints, stings and bites, there is nothing like the Mexican Mustang Liniment.

For spavined horses, the poll evil, ringbone and sweeny, the Mexican Mustang Liniment never fails.

For wind-galls, scratches, big-head and splint, the Mexican Mustang Liniment is worth its weight in gold.

Cuts, bruises, sprains and swellings, are so common and certain to occur in every family, that a bottle of this Liniment is the best investment that can be made.

It is more certain than the doctor—it saves time in sending for the doctor—it is cheaper than the doctor, and should never be dispensed with.

"In lifting the kettle from the fire, it tipped over and scalded my hands terribly. * * * The Mustang Liniment extracted the pain, caused the sore to heal rapidly, and left very little scar.

CHAS. FOSTER, 420 Broad street, Philada.

Mr. S. Litch, of Hyde Park, Vt., writes: "My horse was considered worthless, (spavin,) but since the use of the Mustang Liniment, I have sold him for $150. Your Liniment is doing wonders up here."

All genuine is wrapped in steel plate engravings, signed, G. W. Westbrook, Chemist, and also has the private U. S. stamp of Demas Barnes & Co., over the top.

Look closely, and be not deceived by counterfeits.

Sold by all Druggists at 25, 50 cts, and $1,00.

It is a most delightful Hair Dressing.
It eradicates scurf and dandruff.
It keeps the head cool and clean.
It makes the hair rich, soft and glossy.
It prevents the hair turning gray and falling off.
It restores hair upon prematurely bald heads.

This is just what Lyon's Kathairon will do. It is prodigy—it is cheap—durable. It is literally sold by the carload, and yet its almost incredible demand is daily increasing, until there is hardly a country store that does not keep it, or a family that does not use it.

Who would not be beautiful? Who would not add to their beauty? What gives that marble purity and distingue appearance we observe upon the stage and in the city belle? It is no longer a secret. They use Hagan's Magnolia Balm. Its continued use removes tan, freckles, pimples, and roughness, from the face and hands, and leaves the complexion smooth, transparent, blooming and ravishing. Unlike many cosmetics, it contains no material injurious to the skin. Any Druggist will order it for you, if not on hand, at 50 cents per bottle.

Reimstreet's inimitable Hair Coloring is not a dye. All instantaneous dyes are composed of lunar caustic, and more or less destroy the vitality and beauty of the hair. This is the original Hair Coloring, and has been growing in favor over twenty years. It restores gray hair to its original color by gradual absorption, in a most remarkable manner. It is also a beautiful hair dressing. Sold in two sizes—50 cents and $1—by all dealers.

☞We find in an exchange the following clever poem, written by a gentleman of Elmira, N.Y. It is called "In a Coal Mine" and is a mine of puns. In fact the double entendres are so thick that the hasty reader will miss more than the half of them:

A car full of careless ones,—
The day was ours to spare,—
As students we did seek a mine
To see coal laborers there.

We found the place—'twas miles away
To west and then by south;
And though was ours a joyous mood,
We looked down in the mouth

Of that dark cavern an' though the sight
By courage were not fitted,
To plunge away beyond the light,
We felt we should be pitied.

But on we went and thoughts of ill
Flew off while we were flyin',
And each one from a car-edge cried
Behold all this is mine!

Not only pleasure did we hope
To find for us in store,
We sought as well a higher path,
To get a little lore.

We found a pencil vain—I state
What no one will deny—for
Although there was no lack of slate,
'Twas not a place to sigh for.

The star lamps gleamed before our eyes—
What constellation finer—
Though borne by many a bearish chap
Who was no worse a miner.

And so we studied o'er the mine
While bright ideas budded,
And when we turned away we knew
The mine was much ore-studded.

And when we saw daylight again
Delight did us unfold,
Although we found each one had got
A very little coaled.

For we were glad that no mishap
To sorrow had been doomin' us,
And that no wayward mass of coal
Had sealed our fate by toombin' us.

THE STEAMBOAT RACE.

A THRILLING SKETCH.

Well, we are aboard of the Southern Republic, the last bell has sounded, the last belated trunk has been trundled over the plank, and we are off, the calliope screaming Dixie like ten thousand devils, and the crowds on the bank waving us bon voyage.

The main saloon of the boat was a spacious apartment, a hundred feet long by thirty in breadth, gorgeously decorated with modern paint, and brilliantly lighted. The galleries leading to the state rooms, rising tier upon tier, ran entirely around it, while above them a skylight of tinted glass shed a soft, warm light.

There are offices, card rooms, bar rooms, barber shops, and even faro banks, aboard of all these boats; and as the down trip occupies from forty-eight to seventy hours—according to the stage of the river, and the luck of running aground, a performance to be expected at least once in each trip—we come quite a mutual amusement community by the time it is over.

This trip the boat was very crowded, and at supper the effect of the line of small tables, filled with officers in uniform, ladies tastefully dressed, and a sprinkling of homespun coats—all reflected in the long mirror—was very bright and gay. After meals there is generally a promenade on the upper deck—sans souci—where people talk, smoke, inspect each other and flirt.—Then they adjourn to state room, saloon or card room, or read to kill time, for the Alabama is anything but a picturesque stream, with its low, marshy banks, only varied by occasional 'slides' and negro quarters.

This night was splendidly clear, the moon bright as day; and Styles and I, after seeing the "Colonel" well tucked in staied on deck to scrape acquaintance with the pilot, and the small seedy Frenchman, who officiated at the calliope. He was an original in his way—"the Professor"—with his head like a bullet, garnished with hair of the most wiry blackness, cut as close as the scissors could hold it, looking like the most uncompromising porcupine. Of course, he was a political refugee.

"Dixie! Aire, nationale! Pas bon chose!" he exclaimed, seating himself at his instrument, and twirling a huge moustache. "Voila la Marsellais!—Zat make good national hymn for you!" and he made the whistle roar and shriek in a way to have sent the red caps into the air, a hundred miles away.

"Grand! splendid!" roared Styles above the steam, "Why, Professor, you're a genius. Come and take some brandy."

The Professor banged down his instrument, led the way instanter down to our state room, and once there, did take something, and then something else, and finally some more, till he got very thick-tongued and enthusiastic.

"Grand aire of ze Liberte! he cried at last, mounting again to his perch by the smokestack. "Song composed by me for one grand man—ze Van Dorn. I make this and dedicate to him;" and he banged away at the keys till he tortured the steam into the "Liberty Duetto" from Puritani.

"How you find zat, eh? Zat makes ze hymn for souse. Me, I am a republicain! Viola! I wear ze mustache of ze revolutionisto—my hairs are cut en mencontent. Were zere colore more red as red, I would be zat!" and the Professor was so struck with the brilliancy of his idea, that he played the air again and again, till it rang like a phantom chorus over the still plantations. At last he was overcome by emotion and brandy, slid from the stool and sank at the foot of the smoke stack, muttering: "Zat is ze hymn—hic—dedicate to ze General and ze—hic—country," and then he slept the sleep of the just conscience.

"Thar's the Senator, and she's gaining on we," said the pilot, as we walked forward, pointing to a thin column of smoke rising out of the trees just abreast of us.

"How far astern?"

"A matter of about two miles around that point."

"Splendid night for a race," muttered Styles.

"Will she overtake us, Captain?"

"Wall, maibe!" replied the old river dog, while the most professional grin shot over his hard, wooden features—'Specially of I ease up this 'ar old gal."

"Ha, Jones! Now we'll have it.—We won't turn in, now," chuckled Styles, banging me on the back.

Almost imperceptibly our speed slackened, and the thin, dark column crept nearer and nearer round the trees, on the point in our wake, till at last the steamer bursts into sight, not a pistol short astern.

There is a sharp click of the pilot's bell, a gasping throb, as if our boat took a deep, long breath, and just as the Senator makes our wheel, we dashed on again, with every stroke of the piston threatening to rack our frail fabric into shreds.

The river here is pretty wide and the channel deep and clear. The Senator pulls ahead in gallant style, now gaining our quarter, now a boat's length astern—both engines roaring and snorting like angry hippopotami, and both vessels rocking and straining till they seem to paw their way thro' the churned water. Talk of horse racing and rouge et noir! But, except the wild delirium of a cavalry charge—as described by those who have been in one—there is no excitement that can approach boat racing on the Southern rivers. One by one the people pop up ladders and throng the hurricane deck and the rails. First, the unemployed deck hands; then a stray gentleman or two, and finally ladies and children, till the rail is full and every eye is anxiously strained to the opposite boat.

She holds her own wonderfully well considering the reputation of ours; and at each burst, when she seemed to gain on us the whole crowd hold their breath, and as she drops off again, there is a deep-drawn, gasping sigh of relief, like winds in the pines. Even "the Colonel" has roused himself from dreams of turtle at the St. Charles, and red fish at Pensacola, and has come on deck in a shooting jacket and glengary cap, that makes him look like jaunty Fosco. He leans over that stern rail, puffing his Habana in long easy whiffs as we gain a length, or sending out short, angry puffs at the "Senator" as she creeps up on us.

Foot by foot we gain steadily until the gap is widened to three or four boat lengths, though the "Senator" piles her fires till the shores behind her, on each side, glow from their reflection, and her decks, now black with anxious lookers on, send up cheer after cheer as she snorts defiantly after us.

Suddenly the bank seems to loom up right under our larboard bow;

We have cut it too close!

Two sharp, vicious clinks of the bell. Our helm goes hard down, and the engines stop with a sullen jar, and I catch a hissing curse break through the set teeth of the pilot.

A yell of wild triumph rises from the "Senator's" deck! On she comes in gallant style, shutting the gap and passing us like a race-horse, before we can swing into the channel and recover headway. It is a splendid sight as the noble boat passes us, her black hulk standing out in the clear moonlight, against the dim, gray banks like a living monster, and her great chimneys snorting out volumes of massive black smoke that trails our flat behind her from her great sweep. Her side towards us is crowded with men, women and children; and hats, handkerchiefs and hands are swung madly about, to aid the effort of the hundred voices.

Close down to the water's edge—scarce above the line of the foam she cuts—her lower deck lies black and undefined in the shadow of the great mass above it.

Suddenly it lights up with a lurid flash as the furnace doors are thrown wide open, and in the hot glare the negro stokers—their stalwart forms jetty black, naked to the waist and steaming with the exertion, that makes the muscle strain out like cords—show like the distorted imps of some pictured inferno. They, too, have imbibed the excitement, and with every gesture of anxious haste, and eyeballs starting from their dusky heads, some plunge the long rakes into the red mouths of the furnace, twisting and turning the crackling mass with terrific strength, while others hurl in the huge logs of resinous pine, already heated by the contact, till they would burn like pitch. Then the great doors bang too, the yo! yo! of the negroes dies away, and the whole hull is blacker from the contrast, while the Senator, puffing denser clouds than ever, swings round the point a hundred yards ahead!

There is a dead silence on our boat, so deep that the rough whisper of the pilot to the knot around him is heard the whole length of the deck, "damnation! but I'll overstep her yit, or bust!"

"Good, old fellow!" responded Styles—"let her out, and I'll stand the wine!"

Then the "old Colonel" walks to the wheel, with his face purple, his glengary pushed far back on his head, and his cigar glowing like the "red eye of battle," as he puffs angry wheezes of smoke through his nostrils. "Damned hard, sir—hard! hard! Egad! I'd burn the last ham in the locker to overtake her," and he whirled the glowing stump after the "Senator," as the Spartan youth hurled the shields into the thick of battle, before rushing to reclaim them. On we speed, until the trees on the bank seem to fly back past us, and round the point to see the "Senator" just turning another curve!

On still, faster than ever, with every glass on board jingling in its frame, and every joint and timber trembling, as with a congestive chill!

Still the black demons below ply their fires with the fattest logs—and even a few barrels of pitch are slily slipped in, the smoke behind us stretched straight and flat from the smoke-stack.

Now we enter a straight, narrow reach, with the "Senator" just before us. Faster and faster we go, till the boat fairly rocks and swings from side to side, half lifted with every throb of the engine. Closer and closer we creep—harder and harder thump the cylinders—until at last we close, our bow just lapping her stern!

So we run a few yards. Little by little; so little that we test it by counting her windows; we reach her wheel—pass by it—lock her bow and run neck to neck for a hundred feet.

The stillness of death is upon both boats; not a sound but the creak and shudder as they struggle on. Suddenly the hard voice of our pilot crashes through it like a broadaxe:

"Good bye, Senator! I'll send yer a tug!" and he gives the bell a merry click.

Our huge boat gives one shuddering throb that racks her from end to end; one plunge, and then she settles into a steady rush, and forges rapidly and evenly ahead. Wider and wider grows the gap; and we wind out of sight with the beaten boat five hundred yards behind us.

The cigar I took from my mouth to make way for the deep, long sigh, is chewed to a perfect pulp. A wild, pent up yell of half savage triumph goes up from the crowded deck, such as is heard nowhere else but where the captured work rewards the bloody and oft repeated charge. Cheer after cheer follows; and, as we approach the thin column of smoke, curling over the trees between us, Styles betrides the prostrate form of the still sleeping Professor, and makes the calliope yell and shriek that classic ditty, "Old Gray Horse come out of the Wilderness!" at the invisible rival.

I doubt if heartier toast was ever drunk than the "Colonel" gave the group around the wheel house, when Styles "stood" the wine plighted the pilot. The "Colonel" was beaming, the glengary set jauntily on one side, and his voice actually gurgled as he said:

"Egad! I'd miss my dinner for a week for this, gentlemen, a toast! Here's to the old boat! God bless her soul!"

AHEAD OF EVERYTHING.—I see there is a fellow who calls him self a doctor, and who publishes a "Journal of Health," in which he gives a good many ridiculous rules he says will preserve the health. I haven't much confidence in this fellow, for he is a doctor, and it is naturally against his interest to publish rules that will keep people healthy. I believe he has designs on the community, and only wants to shatter and break up their constitutions. That's the lay he's on, in my opinion. As for his rules, I can beat them myself, if I try, and I herewith do so. If these are accurately followed, they will do as much good as the old man's any time.

1st. Never hang yourself out of an open window when you go to bed at night. The attraction of gravitation is always powerful during the nocturnal hours, and may draw you violently against the ground, and tear your night-shirt.

2d. In cold weather, always wear thick warm clothing about your body. If you haven't money enough to buy it, attend an inextinguishable conflagration in the vicinity of a first-class clothing shop.

3d. If you wear spectacles, avoid going into any fireman's riots that may be transpiring. The reason for this is, that in addition to having your feelings hurt by being called "a four-eyed old piece of shocking profanity," you will very likely be "sluiced over the god," and get more glass in your eye than any precious "bully boy" ever enjoyed.

4th. If you are quite a small baby, be careful that there are no pins in your clothes, and always take a drink of milk punch out of a bottle with a sum thing on the nozzle, before you get into your cradle.

5th. In eating raw oysters, always peel the shells off before swallowing. The shells are indigestible, and are apt to lay heavy on the stomach.

6th. Never sleep more than nine in a bed, even at a country hotel where a political convention is being held. It is apt to produce nightmare if any of the party kick in their sleep. This is especially the case when they go to bed with their boots on.

7th. Abstain entirely from alcoholic drinks. The best way to do is to join a temperance society.

8th. Never travel on railroad trains. Many persons have died quite unexpectedly by this imprudence.

I don't say that fellows who follows these instructions will never die and let their friends enjoy a ride in the cemetery, but you won't get choked off in the bloom of your youth and beauty.

By the way, isn't it odd that as soon as death overtakes us, a man undertakes us?

Female Dress.

This subject is vitally important.—Beside it, diet, exercise and baths sink into insignificance. My pale face countrywomen are dying for lack of room, freedom; they are being testified. Dress reforms proclaim short skirts as the remedy. This is well.—The short skirt is an improvement—a movement upward, but of no consequence compared with the readjustment of the dress about the middle of the body. That part contains the vital and procreative organs. Is a man strong? it is because the middle of the body is strong. Is a woman vigorous? it is because the middle of the body is developed and active.

The changes needed in woman's dress are the following, and I believe their importance is in the order named:

1. The dress about the waist is to be very loose, without whalebones or other stiffening, and the skirts carried with suspenders over the shoulders.

2. The arms and legs are to be so warmly dressed as to maintain healthy circulation.

3. The skirts to fall to the knees.

I have said that the importance of these several changes is in the order named. The lungs, heart, liver and stomach, which together make up the the fountain of life, must have room, or the vital forces must halt. With the corset and tight-lacing, these organs are reduced one-third in size and two-thirds in motion.

Health and equilibrium of circulation are interchangeable terms. Whoever, whatever living thing, either animal or vegetable, has defective circulation has defective health. Flannels, cotton padding, thick shawls, cloaks and furs piled upon the chest, while the legs are covered with a single thickness of cotton cloth surrounded by a balloon in the shape of a hoop, steams the chest and freezes the legs. The legs and arms, separated so far from the center of the body, surrounded by the cold air, need, to say the least, as much clothing as the body, and ought to have on one, or, in cold weather in this climate, two thicknesses of knit woolen. Women complain to me of headache, tell me their blood is all in their head and chest, while their feet are as cold as ice. With the fashionable dress, how can it be otherwise?—Let them cover the limbs with one or two thicknesses of warm flannel, and the feet a warm dress, and the head and chest will be immediately relieved.—Dio Lewis, M. D.

How to Cook a Husband.

Many of our married lady readers are not aware how a husband ought to be cooked, so as to make a good diet of him. We saw lately a recipe in an English newspaper, contributed by one "Mary," which points out the modus operandi of preparing and cooking husbands. "Mary" says that a good many husbands are spoiled in cooking. Some women go about it as if their lords were bladders, and "blow them up." Others keep them constantly in "hot water;" while others, again, freeze them by conjugal coldness. Some smother them in hatred, contention and variance, and some keep them in pickle all their lives. These women always serve them with "tongue sauce." Now it cannot be supposed that husbands will be "tender and good," managed in this way; but they are, on the contrary, "quite delicious" when "well preserved." "Mary" points out the manner as follows: "Get a large jar, called the jar of carefulness, (which, by the by, all good wives have on hand.) Being placed in it, set him by the fire of conjugal love; let the fire be pretty hot, but especially let it be clear. Above all, let the heat be regular and constant. Cover him well over with equal quantities of affection, kindness and subjection. Keep plenty of these things by you, and be very attentive to supply the place of any that may waste by evaporation, or any other cause. Garnish with modest, becoming familiarity and innocent pleasantry; but if you add kisses or other confectionery, accompany them with a sufficient portion of secrecy, and it would not be amiss to add a little prudence and moderation."

"DEAR."—In an exchange we find the following little bill, purporting to be the expenditure of a young man upon the object of his especial admiration for the space of one month,

Note paper,	$ 2 92
Livery hire,	67 13
Oyster bills,	22 11
Pea nuts,	95
Candy kisses,	1 25
Kisses that wasn't candy,	00
Fancy fan,	2 00
Case perfumery,	5 00
Hiring boy to carry notes,	85
Curling hair and dieing moustache,	93
Doctoring headache,	9 25
Attending concerts, shows, dances, festivals, mites, etc.,	27 00
Etceteras,	3 15
And so forths,	11 11
	$149 95

Accompanying the above is the statement that the young man aforesaid has abjured the female sex in toto, with divers comments thereupon by the editor, approbatory of his decision.

The Cleveland Leader enters an emphatic protest against such sentiments. It says that at least half of the above amount went for the benefit of the young man himself, leaving but $74,47½ with which the lady should be debited. If the sixth item in the bill isn't worth that sum per month, we are no judge. It is an error to place on that bill. It ought to appear on the credit side, and like charity, "cover a multitude of"—expenses.

☞Boasting is sometimes out of place. We heard one man boast of being a bachelor as his father was before him.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

[Under this head we give opinions of leading journals, that our readers may see more than one side of a question.]

[From the New York Herald.]

Restoration by One Plan or Another the National Necessity.

Restoration of the Southern States without delay is necessary both in a political point of view and for the material interests of the country. If it cannot be brought about in one way, it must in another. The politicians may wish to keep the question open for party or political purposes, but the mass of the people do not—they want it closed up. The continued exclusion of so large and such an important part of the country from restoration and representation at Washington has political danger in it, is a great strain upon our institutions and form of government, and is calculated to paralyze the productive power of the South as well as the commercial and material interests of the North. There is, in truth great danger every way in such an anomalous and unnatural state of things. We must have prompt restoration at any cost and by all means—not two, three, or more years hence, not after the next Presidential election but, if possible, before the term of the present Congress shall expire next March.

We have seen in history that the richest and fairest portion of the earth may become a wilderness under paralyzing political circumstances. The South, with all its natural resources, might become so. In all probability the productions of that section of the country, which have been declining very much since the war, would become less next year, still less the year after, and so on till general ruin would follow, if restoration be delayed. All the best portion of the population that could get away would leave; ambition which is the great incentive to industry and action, would get destroyed; and capital would turn aside from a country so situated. Shall we suffer this part of our territory, richer and with more varied productions than India, to be thus destroyed? Shall we jeopardize our free republican institutions by keeping half the continent and nearly a third of the population in an unrepresented condition, and under despotic rule? No statesman or patriot, nor any one who has studied history to advantage, would wish to see such a state of things.

Taking it for granted, then, that the mass of our citizens—that the people of the North—earnestly desire a speedy restoration of the South to its former relations in the Union, the question arises, How is this to be accomplished?

We hoped, therefore, that the Constitutional amendment might be adopted, and thus settle the matter. The people of the North declared in the recent elections that to be the plan of settlement. It would have been a safe ready, and easy mode of restoration. But it does not appear that this can be carried through. Three fourths of the States must adopt the amendment before it can become a part of the Constitution. All the Southern States refuse to adopt it, and therefore the over whelming popular majority in the Northern States in its favor is rendered powerless. It is even doubtful if a sufficient number of new States could be erected to carry the amendment while the South holds out. Besides the attempt to overrule the South in this way would cause great delay, which, as we have said, would be highly injurious and dangerous.

What, then, can be done? Clearly this:—If the South will not accept restoration on the terms offered through the Constitutional amendment restoration ought to be forced upon them in some other way by Congress. This seems to us the only alternative. The interests of the North—of the whole country—yes, the interests of the South as well as of the North—demand it. It is folly to talk of the rights of the Southern States. We are in a quasi state of war; the war is not closed up while the States remain unrestored, and they are completely under the power and at the mercy of the North. The will of the Northern people, and consequently that of Congress, as representing the Northern people, is the absolute law in the case. The South has placed itself in its present excluded situation and must bear the consequences. All appeals to former Constitutional rights are useless, if even a strict technical interpretation of the Constitution might seem to favor them, because the war power—the power of the conqueror over the conquered, is superior to everything else. We may regret that restoration has not been brought about or could not be reached under other circumstances; but that is not the question now; we have to deal with facts; we have to take things as they are and make the most of them.

Under all the circumstances we conclude, therefore, that it is best for Congress, as soon as it shall assemble, to legislate for the entire and complete reconstruction of the Southern States. The President has tried his plan, from the best motive, doubtless, and it has failed. The people have not accepted it. Now let Congress begin anew at the foundation. Let an act granting universal amnesty and universal suffrage be passed under the war power. Let the Southern States be immediately reconstructed on this basis. Let the whole machinery of government spring into action upon it, and then let the members and Senators from every Southern State be forthwith admitted to Congress. This would be practical, early, and complete restoration. Our political troubles would be at an end. As far as the South is concerned, that section would have a larger number of members in Congress than ever. It would control the negro vote for years, and in time to come the white population would grow so largely over the negro that there would be no danger from negro suffrage. The most levelling radicals of the North would be disarmed in their hostility, and, the cause of trouble being removed, we should have peace. This is, we believe, the most logical, safe, and prompt method of restoration under the circumstances. We hope Congress will adopt it, and let us have a throughly restored Union before next March. It will save the South, and give universal prosperity to the whole country.

Equal Rights.

An informal meeting of the friends of equal rights was held in Philadelphia last week, to consider the expediency of forming an Equal Rights Association for the State of Pennsylvania. Mrs. Mott said she did not think it necessary to have any particular order, or to appoint a chairman, but to confer freely together, which suggestion was concurred in by those present.

Susan B. Anthony said we are not only to make sure of the republican idea so far as the equality of races is concerned, but also to secure the equality of individuals throughout the republic. In other words, the real republican idea is the equality of individuals. Our convention in Albany was the first which we have held since our organization in May, and it was for the specific purpose of inaugurating a canvas of the State of New York, in view of the pending Constitutional Convention which is to be held next summer, and our plan of canvassing is to hold conventions and lectures and meetings throughout the entire State, to secure the organization of Equal Rights Clubs and Committees in every city and village and school district of the State, and whose business shall be to secure the circulation of tracts, and call lecturers to instruct them on this question. Beginning in New York city on the 6th or 7th of December, with our first convention, we expect to commence there, going into Brooklyn and then to all the principal cities of the State. We propose petitioning the Legislature of the State, asking them to set the qualifications of voters so as to secure the ballot to all colored men and women and white women, on equal terms. We want to secure the equality of all, white and black, and we want the women of every State to inaugurate a movement—to canvass their own State—men or women who believe in equal rights—precisely as we are doing in New York. That is what we ask, and it is what I would like to see, the friends here this morning make this a committee to call the people of Philadelphia together, or of Pennsylvania, to call a State meeting and inaugurate a Pennsylvania Equal Rights Association, which shall make its principal object the agitation of the right of ballot to all men and all women, on equal terms, without regard to color; because to-day, if we go forward and secure the ballot only to the black man, as it seems the only way that it will be secured. It is to be done by compromise, that is, the Republicans are going to make a Constitutional amendment, and guarantee to the black man the right to vote on equal terms with the white man, perhaps inserting the word "male" in the Constitution, which debars women, and we have no right to sit still and see it done.

Mrs. Mott said it was incumbent upon those assembled, additionally so now, to make an effort to secure the ballot for women.

The question of the right of women to suffrage was then discussed.

A motion to appoint a committee to call a public meeting to consider the expediency of forming an association was carried unanimously. A committee was then appointed, consisting of the following gentlemen:—Sarah Pugh, Lucretia Mott, Robert, Purvis, Ellen Childs, Abby Kimber, Alfred H. Love.

After appointing a Finance Committee to collect funds for the meeting, which is to be held some time in January next, the meeting adjourned.

A SINGULAR AND FATAL ACCIDENT.—Sidney Tompkins, a wealthy farmer of Stillwater, Washington county, met with his death on the morning of the 16th in a very singular manner. Upon visiting his cattle-yard, he discovered that one of his cows was in great distress in consequence of the lodgment of a potato in its throat. Mr. Tompkins undertook to relieve the animal, and for this purpose thrust his arm partially down the mouth and throat. While standing over the head of the animal, the cow in its agony pressed its head downward, and suddenly elevating it again, caught Mr. T. upon its horns, throwing him several feet into the air. In his descent he struck upon the paling of a fence, one of which entered his neck, severing one of the arteries, from which he bled to death in a few moments.

☞At the recent Sunday school Convention at Utica, New York, one delegate protested against ball playing as morally injurious. Shortly thereafter a pointed rebuke was conveyed to him by a son-in-law of Beecher's, Rev Mr. Scoville, of Norwich, New York, who rose and said: "I regret that I cannot longer remain in the Convention, but our club and the Hill boys have a match game on the tapis, and I must go. We licked those boys, and we can do it again."

WHAT to do with the national debt—leave it a loan.

"I know of no mode in which a loyal citizen may so well demonstrate his devotion to his country as by sustaining the Flag the Constitution and the Union, under all circumstances, and UNDER EVERY ADMINISTRATION REGARDLESS OF PARTY POLITICS, AGAINST ALL ASSAILANTS, AT HOME AND ABROAD."—STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS.

What Next?

Horace Greeley, the head and brains of the Republican party, declares himself in favor of a Universal Amnesty to all in the South who engaged in rebellion, and of Impartial Suffrage, both South and North,—that is suffrage in which precisely the same tests, whatever these tests may be, shall be applied to men of all races, colors and conditions. He is not for one as an off-set to the other;—he does not propose to concede amnesty to the rebels if the South will concede suffrage to the negro,—nor to balance rebel votes given under the amnesty by negro votes given by suffrage. He is for universal amnesty, "even though Impartial Suffrage should for the present be resisted and defeated." And he gives at length and in detail, his reasons for holding this opinion. This is virtually a declaration against the third clause of the Constitutional Amendment, which excludes leading rebels from holding office until admitted thereto by vote of two-thirds of Congress. Mr. Greeley would make them all eligible to every office, State and National, at once.

This is further than anybody, unless it be the genuine Northern traitors, have yet gone in concessions to the South for the sake of reconstruction. It is certainly much further than President Johnson or any of his friends of the Conservative party have gone. Still as the question of reconstruction is still open, and amendments still in order, the President, and the Greeleys, and the leaders of all parties, including the Rebels South, may finally come together on Mr. Greeley's platform. Such a result would not surprise us in the least. Outsiders, (the people,) must be patient and "wait for the wagon."

CONGRESS.

This body re-assembled on Monday, and to it the whole people must and will look for relief. It claims the right, and exclusive right, to dictate terms of reconstruction. Any policy is better than continued agitation. Business is suffering, the people are suffering, all for want of positive action on the part of the men of all parties in power. If we cannot have the best "policy," give us the next best, or the third best, any thing so that agitation and contention may cease and prosperity and peace prevail throughout our now distracted country.

☞ The proposition to substitute impartial suffrage and universal amnesty for the Constitutional Amendment, as the basis of restoration, appears to be received with little favor at the South. The Amendment is denounced as derogatory to the honor of the Southern people, and the application of an intelligence test alike to white and black is scouted as a device for disfranchising poor whites. Qualified negro suffrage and universal white suffrage would suit tolerably well, because the number of enfranchised freedmen would be very small. But the doctrine is repudiated as vehemently as would be universal suffrage for white and black alike.

☞ Certain officious newspapers are busily employed in laying out plans for the present Congress. We think that body has "stuffing" enough to digest, and the sooner it gets through with its reconstruction process (which, by the way is very experimental) the better it will be for the country. All the people can hope for is that wisdom and patriotism will characterize all their efforts at forming a union.

☞ The Harrisburgh Correspondent of the Chambersburgh Repository, who has been keeping "tally," makes the startling announcement that there are forty candidates for the office of U. S. Senator. Our townsman, Hon. John Scott, is on the slate. It is a real pity Pennsylvania hadn't the gift to bestow upon them all, but as sure as the fate of Edgar Cowan there will be only one to take his place.

ON THE INCREASE.—The daily and weekly papers in every city and large town complain of the rapid increase of crime principally among young men. Idleness, dissipation and crime go hand in hand. Times are not now like they used to be when young men served four and five years as apprentices to learn to be good mechanics.

The Government anticipate no serious difficulty as likely to arise from the delay in the removal of the French troops from Mexico, but believe that in a short time the entire French force will be withdrawn from that country, and the Juarez Government established in the City of Mexico.

☞ We will be able to give the President's message in full next week.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The President's Policy reviewed.

Special despatch to the Pittsburgh Commercial.

WASHINGTON, December 2, 1866.

The President's Message will be delivered to-morrow to both Houses of Congress, at one p. m. Within an hour from that time it will be issued in full from the offices of all the leading journals of this country. There will be therefore, no violation of faith or promise in anticipating a few hours its salient and important points in the following correct synopsis:

PEACE AND PROSPERITY.

The Message opens, as usual, with thanks to Providence for peace and prosperity, in the abatement of the pestilence and the restoration of civil authority throughout the United States.

REVIEW OF THE PRESIDENT'S POLICY.

A review is then had of the facts set forth in the President's message, relative to the measures the Executive had taken for the gradual restoration of the Southern States to the Union, such as appointing provisional Governors, etc. Only one thing then remained, the message says, to be done, and that was the admission of loyal representatives to Congress. This question was devolved solely on Congress. In the meantime, the President says, no other plan having been proposed, he continued his efforts to perfect restoration through the judicial, revenue and postal systems of the country. The South had also ratified the amendment abolishing slavery, conformed their social laws to the fact, repudiated rebel debts and proceeded in good faith to legislate for the amelioration of the colored race.

The President then speaks as follows: "Congress, however, yet hesitated to admit any of these States to representation, and it was not until the close of the eighth month of the session that an exception was made in favor of Tennessee. I deem it a subject of profound regret that Congress has thus far failed to admit to seats loyal Senators and Representatives from the other States whose inhabitants, with those of Tennessee, had engaged in rebellion. Ten States, more than one fourth of the whole number, remain without representation. The seats of fifty members of the House and twenty of the Senate are yet vacant—not by their own consent, not by a failure of election, but by the refusal of Congress to accept their credentials. Their admission, it is believed, would have accomplished much towards the renewal and strengthening of our relations as one people, and removed serious cause for discontent on the part of the people of those States. It would have accorded with the great principle enunciated in the Declaration of Independence that no people ought to bear the burden of taxation and yet be denied the right of representation.

It would have been in consonance with the express provisions of the Constitution that each State shall have at least one representative, and that no State without its consent shall be deprived of equal suffrage in the Senate. These provisions were intended to secure to every State, the right of representation in Congress, and so important was it deemed by the framers of the Constitution that the equality of the States shall be preserved in the Senate; that not even by an amendment of the constitution can any State without its consent be denied a voice in that branch of the National legislature. It has been assumed that those States, by rebellion, became territories; but all departments of the Government, with great distinctness, refused to sanction an assumption so incompatible with the nature of our Republican system and the professed objects of the war. Throughout the recent legislation of Congress, the undeniable fact makes itself apparent that these ten political communities are nothing less than States."

The President then quotas the Crittenden resolution of 1861, on the object of the war, and reviews the legislation of Congress, wherein the States are recognized, and also in Lincoln's proclamation. He then proceeds again as follows:

"In the admission of Senators and Representatives from all of the States, there can be no just grounds of apprehension that persons who are disloyal will be clothed with the power of legislation, for this could not happen when the Constitution and the laws are enforced by a vigilant and faithful Congress. Each House is the judge of its own members. A Senator or member may be admitted or rejected, or his credentials referred to a proper committee. If admitted to a seat it must be on evidence satisfactory to the House of which he becomes a member, that he possesses the requisite loyal and Constitutional qualifications. If refused admission and sent to his constituents for want of due allegiance, they are admonished that none but persons loyal to the United States will be allowed in the councils of the nation, and the political power and moral influence of Congress are thus effectively exerted in the interests of loyalty to the Government and fidelity to the Union. Upon this question, so vitally affecting the restoration of the Union, and the permanency of our form of Government, my convictions heretofore expressed have undergone no change, but on the contrary their correctness has been confirmed by reflection and time. If the admission of loyal members to seats in Congress was wise a year ago, it is no less wise and expedient now. If this anomalous condition is right; if in the exact condition of these States at the present time it is lawful to exclude them from representation, I do not see that the question will be changed by the efflux of time. Ten years hence, if these States remain as they are, the right of representation will be no weaker.

The Constitution makes it the duty of the President to recommend to the consideration of Congress such measures as he shall deem expedient. I know of no measure more imperatively demanded by every consideration of national interest, sound policy and equal justice, than the admission of loyal members from the unrepresented States. It would consummate restoration, renew vigor and stability, allay doubt, induce emigration, and open new fields of enterprise."

The President concludes on restoration by repeating the warnings of others against a consolidated despotism, and does not make the slightest reference to the pending Constitutional Amendment nor to the much talked of amnesty and suffrage questions.—All he says on reconstruction I have given verbatim.

Mexican affairs and our relations with Great Britain are referred to and he concludes his message as follows:

"In the performance of a duty imposed by the Constitution, I have thus submitted to the representatives of the States and the people such information of our domestic and foreign affairs as the public interests may require. Our Government is now undergoing its most trying ordeal, and my earnest prayer is that the peril may be successfully and finally passed without impairing its original strength and symmetry. The interests of the nation are best to be promoted by the revival of fraternal relations, the complete obliteration of our past differences and the inauguration of all the pursuits of peace. Directing our efforts to the early accomplishment of these great ends, let us endeavor to preserve harmony between the co-ordinate departments of the Government, that each in its proper sphere may cordially co-operate with the other in securing the maintenance of the Constitution, the preservation of the Union and the perpetuity of free institutions.

[Signed] ANDREW JOHNSON.

Party Reform.

The following article from the Philadelphia Mercury, a radical Democratic paper, is plain talk. The intelligent reader will be able to say how much truth there is in it:

"The echo of appeals we have recently made in favor of purifying the action of the Democratic party by taking it out of the control of improper characters, is already coming back to us. Meetings with this view have been held by the people of Milwaukee, who have resolved to effect, so far as they can, a "complete reorganization of the party," "to cut adrift entirely from saloon caucuses," and, in plain words and by way of summing up the evils to be cured, they have determined not to "let bar-keepers, loafers, and gamblers rule the party and control nominations any longer."

This is a wise step in the right direction. It should have been taken in all parts of the country long ago. But it is not yet too late to correct a fault to which the Democracy may justly attribute much of that discredit it has suffered in public estimation during the last few years. Every political organization must expect to have its moral character inferred from that of the persons who are allowed to attain to leading prominence in it; and the real or supposed morality of any party in this country must always considerably increase or lessen its strength. Bad men are to be seen figuring conspicuously in all parties, but that is no reason why the Democratic party should longer tolerate a vice which grossly offends a just public sentiment and injures the best possible cause."

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

Ford's Theatre building at Washington has been undergoing important changes. Thousands of relics of the war have already found room in some of the cases. Almost every part of the human body usually attacked by disease and accidents incident to the army, have been preserved in jars for purposes, the value of which cannot be over-estimated. Specimens of every variety of artificial limbs, which ingenuity and skill have been able to invent, have been carefully deposited in cases prepared for the purpose. The archives of the defunct Southern Confederacy will also be deposited in the building.

Brevet Brigadier General Sewell, Inspector of the Freedmen's Bureau, has been ordered to proceed to Georgia and other Southern States for the purpose of investigating the complaints of speculation and corruption in the issuing of railroad transportation to freedmen, made in the Loyal Georgian. He will visit the officers of the various railroads and obtain from them all the information they can procure as to the truth of the charges, and will recommend such changes as may be necessary to correct any evils or irregularities that he may find to exist.

Some fifty members of Congress held a caucus on Saturday night. It had an interesting time discussing the subject of removals from and appointments to office. It unanimously agreed that the Senate reject all the nominations made merely on political grounds. Thaddeus Stevens was selected to respond to the toast, "The Congress of the United States," at the banquet on Monday night. Senator Morrill of Maine, it is understood, will immediately introduce a bill to confer suffrage on the freedmen of the District of Columbia. A bill will be introduced and warmly urged calling the Fortieth Congress on the 5th of March immediately after the adjournment of the present which will end on the 4th of March. The members must calculate on having a "high time." Thaddeus Stevens is preparing very strong resolutions as to what will be the course of Congress during the present session. The resolutions are to be laid before the caucus which will meet this week. Articles of impeachment against the President will be offered at an early day.

PAUPERISM IN WASHINGTON.—The Star warns people at a distance not to come to Washington for employment. It says: "That it has never known so many persons out of employment in this city. A large portion of the floating population brought here by the war still linger, long after the demand for their labor has ceased, and jostle each other for a livelihood in all the trades and in a fierce contest for the smallest governmental office. There are some thirty thousand colored people, contrabands, &c., seeking employment here, of whom it is safe to say that twenty thousand will not average a day's work in a week during the coming winter. The Poor House is already overflowing, and unable to afford a shelter to the swarms of vagrants and houseless ones afloat upon our streets."

The Indian famine, which has in this country attracted but little more notice than any other event in foreign lands, has, it is said, destroyed more than 2,000,000 people. So great a calamity as this, which, had it occurred in America, would have filled the world with horror, is but the theme only of a few newspaper paragraphs—nothing more.

Advices from the Upper Missouri state that the Indians are again troublesome, several boats having been fired into, and a number of passengers killed. How is it the red men and the whites cannot "dwell together in unity," while the black men and the whites can? Surely we should have "Indian lovers" as well as "negro lovers."

It has been ascertained at the War Department that there have been 169,624 colored men enlisted in the United States service. Of these 20,236 have been discharged, principally on account of physical disability; 31,866 died while in the service; 14,887 deserted; 1,514 have been killed in action; and 1,344 were reported after engagements as missing.

Rebel General Edward Johnston, lately pardoned by the President, immediately walks into the office of Gen. Spinner, Treasurer of the United States, and demands four hundred dollars back pay due him as Major in the U. S. army when he left the service of his country and joined the Rebellion. That's cool impudence. It's a wonder he did not demand back his commission also.

A man in Lewisburg, Preble county, Ohio, having died of delirium tremens, his wife brought suit for damages against two men of whom he had been accustomed to buy liquor. The county court awarded her $500 from one of the men, and $200 from the other. This was meagre compensation, but yet how many such widows are there who have not the courage to sue for even less.

The Democrats at Kokomo, Indiana, last week, ran, as a candidate for justice of the peace, at a local election, a colored man named Nichols. A Democratic trustee decided that negroes would be allowed to vote under the civil rights bill, and would have received them, but for the decision of the other members of the Board, that they were not entitled to vote. How are you "citizen?"

Snow has fallen to a great depth in the region of Fort Benton. A dispatch from New Orleans says earnest preparations are making to raise crops of cotton and sugar next year, notwithstanding past disappointments. The political opinions and measures are lost sight of. A few demagogues and habitual politicians alone keep such subjects alive; the masses think only of work and improvement. If the masses in the North would only catch the same spirit the politicians would soon have to hang their heads in shame, and go howling in hunt of a more honorable avocation.

At the late horse fair in Baltimore, General Grant was present and occupying one of the stands, when his attention was called to the fact that Gen. Joe Johnson was upon the other, the question being put, "would he like to see him?" "Certainly," was the reply of the General, "there is no man on the ground I would be more pleased to see." Gen. Johnston was sent for, and the cordial greeting took place. What a profitable lesson this is to many who have no sympathy whatever for their "erring brethren" in the South?

A very active movement has recently been set on foot in England in favor of allowing the laboring classes an opportunity to enjoy themselves at cricket and other athletic sports on Sunday afternoon, after the morning has been spent at church. The movement is headed by Archdeacon Dennison, and supported by a goodly number of people of established religious standing. This has the semblance of a charitable necessity, but we fear it would be as detrimental to the morals of the community as it might be considered a violation of the sanctity of the Sabbath.

A handsome young Yankee peddler made love to a buxom widow in Pennsylvania. He accompanied his declaration with an allusion to two impediments to their union. "Name them," said the widow. "The want of means to set up a retail store." They parted, and the widow sent the peddler a check for ample means. When they met again, the peddler had hired and stocked his store, and the smiling fair one begged to know the other impediment. "I have another wife," cried the notion vender. This illustrates one of the misfortunes into which a woman is often ensnared when she assumes to play the coquette.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

[Under this head we give opinions of leading journals, that our readers may see more than one side of a question.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The New Yow Herald, (Republican) of this morning argues at length that the ratification of the Amendment by the States in the Union is ample and sufficient to give them force and effect. In other words, the recovered States and territories are subject to the will of the States which remained true to the Union, and legally have no voice in settling the terms of reconstruction. It says:—Divested of petty technicalities and quibbles, it is apparent that three-fourths of the States now represented in Congress are competent to make the pending Constitutional Amendment part and parcel of the Constitution, the supreme law alike to the outside and the inside States and territories. This is the conclusion which we understand will be acted upon by Congress. When three fourths of the twenty-six States now represented in Congress shall have ratified the Amendment, the Secretary of State will be required by act of Congress, if necessary, to proclaim the ratification complete; then while the ratification may be held as the condition of Southern restoration, the Amendment consummated will still be binding upon them as the supreme law of the land, and Congress may enforce it from Virginia to Texas, by appropriate legislation as in the territories. This is the solution which awaits the excluded States. It is a solution which is perfectly consistent with the rights and powers assumed by the loyal States in suppressing the rebellion of the late so-called Confederate States, and with all the legislation of Congress since the first bombardment of Fort Sumpter. The only question, therefore, remaining to the excluded States, is whether they will make a virtue of necessity and come forward to the ratification in order to participate in the Presidential contest of 1868, or remain outside to be subjected to the terms of the Amendment by the action of the loyal States and of Congress.

The New York Times, (Republican) of yesterday exhibited unmistakable indications of taking the same position. The World of to-day says there is a strong tendency in the Republican party, as such, to do this. It then proceeds to argue against such a course.

Preparatory to starting for some weeks' sojourn in the West, Greeley (Republican) defines his position at length in the Tribune. We quote one paragraph:

"I am for universal amnesty so far as immunity from fear of punishment or confiscation is concerned, even though impartial suffrage should for the present be resisted and defeated. I did think it desirable that Jefferson Davis should be arraigned and tried for treason, and it still seems to me that this might have been done many months ago; but it was not done then, and now I believe that it would result in far more evil than good. It would rekindle passions that have nearly burned out or been hushed to sleep; it would fearfully convulse and agitate the South; it would arrest the progress of reconciliation and kindly feeling there; it would cost a large sum directly, and a far larger indirectly, and unless the jury were scandalously packed, it would result in a non acquittal or non verdict. I can imagine no good end to be subserved by such a trial, and holding Davis neither better nor worse than thousands of others, would have him treated as they are."

The Times, in alluding to the talk of impeachment, says: "The rumors of forcible resistance to such an attempt are simply absurd. Any member of the House has a right to bring forward such a proposition, and if it is sustained by two-thirds of the House, it must be sent to the Senate for trial. Neither the President nor anybody else has any right to dream of forcible resistance to such a step, nor is it easy indeed to see where such resistance could begin.

BOSTON, November 27.—The Republican papers of this city are taking grounds against the impeachment of President Johnson. Congress being master of the situation, they contend that so violent a step as impeachment is wholly unnecessary, and declare further that Massachusetts will not follow Butler in this matter. Still there are large numbers of the party who would be glad to see the President disgraced by impeachment. One of these is a minister in a leading Church here, who yesterday prayed that God would remove our wicked rulers.

The Pittsburgh Commercial (Republican) says:—It is almost impossible to understand some men, and Mr. Theodore Tilton, (editor of the N. Y. Independent,) is one of them. When the Constitutional Amendment was pending, and the contest between the President and Congress over it was fiercest, Mr. Tilton fairly shrieked in favor of standing by Congress. "Stand by Congress," was the cry everywhere, and nobly was it responded to. The Amendment passed, and Tilton, in his paper, joyously cried out "Laus Dei." The President appealed to the people, and the cry was, "stand by the Amendment—sustain Congress." And the people, after a fierce struggle, did stand by the Amendment, and by an overwhelming majority in the popular vote, and by the election of new Congressmen, did sustain Congress. But scarcely had the notes of triumph died away, when Mr. Tilton suddenly perceived that the Amendment was worthy only of denunciation, and that something else should have been adopted by Congress; and he took the trouble to come all the way from New York to the Banner County of the Union to tell us how great a mistake we had committed, with our unequaled majority, in standing by Congress. Surely, there are men hard to understand in fact, it is extremely doubtful whether they understand themselves,—and Mr. Tilton is a conspicuous member in their ranks.

Agents Wanted

FOR THE MOST POPULAR

And best selling Subscription Books Published.

We are the most extensive publishers in the United States, (having six houses,) and therefore can afford to sell books cheaper and pay agents a more liberal commission than any other company.

Our books do not pass through the hands of General Agents, (as nearly all other subscription works do,) therefore we are enabled to give our canvassers the extra per cent. which is usually allowed to general agents. Experienced canvassers will see the advantages of dealing directly with the publishers.

Our series embraces the most popular works on all subjects of importance, and is selling rapidly both North and South.

Old agents, and all others, who want the best paying agencies, will please send for circulars and see our terms, and compare them with the character of our works with those of other publishers. Address,

MEDICAL ELECTRICITY.

Wonderful Scientific Discovery

For the Treatment of Acute and Chronic Diseases.

The undersigned would respectfully call the attention of the afflicted females of Huntingdon county, and the adjoining counties, that I have taken instruction in the correct application of Electricity, and am now fully prepared to operate successfully for the cure of persons afflicted with the following named diseases, viz:

General Debility,	Neuralgia,
Kidney Complaints,	Nervous Diseases,
Liver "	Female Weakness,
Spinal Affection,	Piles and Gravel,
Costiveness,	Bronchial Affection,
Foul Stomach,	Dyspepsia,
Rheumatism,	Headache,
Diseases of the Womb,	Diabetes,
Suppressed Menses,	Goiter, or Big Neck.

Female patients can receive treatment at my residence for any of the above diseases with the wonderful discovery of Electricity; which is without a parallel, and the very desideratum for the afflicted. Please give me a trial. It is a mild operation, producing no shock or unpleasant sensation, and relieves where medicine has no effect at all.

Brief Items.

—Plenty offering—beef and pork at reasonable prices.

—March & Bro. have received another invoice of desirable goods. Give 'em a call and get what you need.

—Blessed is the man who has a good overcoat, for he need not buy or steal one.

—William Dorris, Esq., offers some valuable real estate at private sale.—Read advertisement in to-day's issue.

—Mr. Aultz, formerly of Tyrone, has entered partnership with Captain J. Fee in the Exchange Hotel.

—The business world must now await the action of the politicians before there can be any certainty of success in honest business pursuits.

—Capt. Seth Benner, Democrat, of Lewistown, has been appointed U. S. Whiskey Inspector for Mifflin county, vice E. E. Locke, Republican, removed.

—Blessed are the poor, for they are not troubled when gold, bonds, stocks, flour, meat, etc., etc., have a downward tendency.

—The dedication of the new colored church in this place will be on Friday evening, December 14th. Bishop Williams will officiate on that occasion.

—Some of the sufferers of the disaster at Johnstown have entered suits against the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., which will be tried this week at the Ebensburg court.

—If some parents would keep a stricter watch on their children after night they would understand us when we say, "As the twig is bent the tree's inclined."

—The Festival in the colored church on Thursday and Friday evenings last was a success, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather. White and colored patronized the affair liberally.

—Dr. Edmund Snare offers at private sale his stock of medicines, instruments, etc. Read advertisement. We regret the Doctor is obliged to take this step, owing to failing health.

—A little mixed—the Republicans in town who rejoice with the rebel-sympathizing organization over the removal of Postmaster Reed, a life-long Republican. But such is politics and politicians.

—The hogs in this place are dying daily from the effects of the butcher's knife. We have heard the keepers of the animals "boasting" of their fat hogs. Those who have sent us a share of the sausage have our thanks.

—The nail factory attached to the rolling mill of B. M. Johnston & Co., in Hollidaysburg, was destroyed by fire about 2 o'clock, Tuesday morning last. Estimated loss between $4,000 and $5,000—mostly covered by insurance.

—The First National Store is open, see advertisement. Everybody will go to see, and perhaps buy. Goods now and cheap, and accommodating gentlemen behind the counter. Mrs. F—— thinks the dress goods delightful. Go and see.

—Thanksgiving day was duly observed in this ancient borough. The stores and other places of business were closed, and union service was held in the Presbyterian church in the morning. Turkey roasts were the order of the day but nary one had we.

—A man in Lancaster has just been convicted of stealing one of those articles called umbrellas. Those in want of umbrellas on a rainy day should be careful how they "handle" that which belongs to nobody in general and somebody in particular.

—The canvassers of the Huntingdon Cornet Band are circulating with their subscription papers to raise money to purchase silver instruments. Let our good citizens subscribe according to a just appreciation of the worthy institution, and there will be no difficulty in getting the amount necessary. Let each citizen "appreciate" the Band liberally and assist in making it a permanent source of pleasure.

—The newspapers in various parts of the country are noting an immense increase in marriages since the close of the war, showing that nature is extending her recuperative power to make up for the ravages of the battle field and hospital. Statistics state an increase of 65 per cent. in 1866 over 1860. Huntingdon, we are sure, has not helped this increase, for marriages, like angel visits, are few and far between.

All Agree.

On one subject the friends of the President and the friends of Congress are unanimous—that H. Roman has the largest and best stock of Ready-made Clothing in Huntingdon. *

Thoughts for the Times.

We hope the present long winter evenings will not be spent in dreamy idleness by our citizens. We want them to understand that our town is growing in population. Let them, and the capitalists especially, devise plans which will increase the town's prosperity. Let them set their wits to work. What we want is houses and manufacturing establishments. It is high time Old Huntingdon should awake from the lethargic slumber which keeps it amongst the lower order of towns, and assume the more active and energetic characteristics which would make it what its location and other advantages would merit. We have the desirable location; now let us make it the desirable town. Let not the commendable spirit of improvement, which has manifested itself, die out, and leave us just where we were before—a town undeserving the name of a town. We know our citizens have regretted that Huntingdon is not what it should be, and many are still heard complaining. But we must say the fault lies with themselves. Even some of our money-eyed men complain; but they seem to forget that it is to them that those in limited circumstances look for the desirable change. Let them but devote their money in that which benefits others, and the change will be effected. It is not stores, nor population even, that makes a town, but that which gives employment to the population, thereby benefiting the stores. Every branch of business is dependent on the other, and that which enhances the value of the one enhances the value of the other. We have numerous incidents of this, and yet, we are sorry to say, there are those in the community who think the more stores we have the greater the benefit to the town. We doubt whether "competition is the life of trade," but we feel sure that competition is not the life of a town, nor at least that which affords the best livelihood to a trader. We believe in diversity of employments; nor do we wish to be understood as speaking invidiously when we say that we have too many stores. If the population was sufficiently large we would have no objections, but having between fifteen or twenty stores of the same nature, or dealing in no one specialty, for a population of about twenty five hundred, is certainly no benefit to the town or the merchant. It is no benefit to the town because stores do not develope the resources of the country generally, nor do they make the town prosperous or increase its population; and it is no benefit to the merchant—first, because the population is not large enough, and second because it is some time before he can have the patronage of his neighbors. While if the money they invest in stocking a store was invested in some manufacturing pursuit they and the town would be benefitted. These are thoughts which we deem expedient at this time to circulate, in order to give our citizens sufficient time to agitate the subject and devise the plans necessary to effect the desired object—of making this a town of no mean standing. We may have more to say on this topic in a future number, but for the present we close, hoping that some measures will be effected to keep alive the awakened spirit of energy and improvement. Now is the time for thought, and in Spring the time for action.

A Profane Minister.

There is a town not a thousand miles from here named Helser. A clergyman in the same place was called upon by a young couple not long since, who wished him to join them in holy bonds of matrimony. He asked the bridegroom (a soldier, by the way), for his marriage license; to which the young man in blue responded by saying that he had been engaged to the girl for four years, and thought that would do. Clergyman thought not, and remarked, as the speediest way to obtain a license:—

"You had better take your girl and go to Helser."

"You can go to h—ll yourself," retorted the angry veteran.

And seizing the bride by the arm, he dragged her from the house, and made his way to S. E. Henry & Co's Mammoth Store, where he purchased a full "kit" of everything necessary to set himself up in the house keeping business. Amongst the numerous articles purchased were Carpets, Oil Cloths, Blankets, Coverlids, Sheetings, Calicoes, Muslins, Tinware, Queensware, Groceries, and every other article necessary to make him happy.

Great Fall in Goods.

We will sell all kinds of goods at reduced prices, since the decline in gold.

This is the season for those luxuries, and the place to get your fixins for them is at Lewis' Family Grocery. Citrons, Raisins, Sweet Cider, &c. Also prime meat already by the pound.

A Good Shot.

Fatal Accident.

The Ebensburg Sentinel says: "An accident of a fatal character, occurred in Johnstown, on Thursday evening last, resulting in the death of Mr. Jas. Kelley, a resident of Allegheny city. Mr. Kelley, who was a contractor and builder of slate roofs, was engaged in erecting one of these upon a large building being erected by Wood, Morrell & Co., in Johnstown, and having occasion to ascend to the roof, in order to give some instructions to the workmen, he was accidentally struck by a derrick, which knocked him from the roof, precipitating him a distance of of some sixty-five feet. In his fall he struck a carpenter's scaffolding, which was placed against the building, and so great was the force with which he struck it that the structure gave way, and together with the unfortunate man, fell to the ground. His head first reached the ground, and, the fall breaking his spinal column, he is supposed to have died almost instantly. The deceased was about fifty years of age, and leaves a wife and children to mourn his untimely end."

Advance Payments.

We notice several of our exchanges come to us with notices that hereafter their terms will be advance payments for subscriptions and cash for advertisements at the time of insertion. We do not wonder at this. It has become a necessity. Everything used in the printing line is about as high in price as at any previous time during the war and has to be paid for in cash. Printers must have an extraordinary establishment or a big purse to carry on business any length of time, paying their current expenses in cash and waiting for their own pay one, two, three or more years. That kind of business don't pay. As a necessity, then, advance and cash payments for subscription and advertising will soon have to become general. Subscribers to the Globe should bear in mind that the terms of publication are $2.00 per annum.

Bell Ringers Coming.

The old original Peak Family of Bell Ringers, assisted by the celebrated Berger Family, will give an entertainment in the Court House on Friday and Saturday evenings next. This is the largest and best troupe now traveling. The juvenile Silver Cornet Band is one of the greatest wonders of the age; their musical abilities are without a parallel, and have delighted hundreds and thousands both in this country and abroad. 120 Bells are used by this well known company, upon which are played all the late airs both national and sentimental. Those of our citizens who witnessed the performance of the Peak Family a few years ago, need no urging to be present at their entertainment.

Glorious News!
$100 ADDITIONAL BOUNTY!!
NEW BOUNTY LAW PASSED!

Attention, Discharged Soldiers!

The Act of Congress approved July 28, 1866, gives $100 additional bounty to all soldiers who enlisted for three years and were discharged by reason of expiration of service, or who were discharged for wounds received in battle and who have not received more than $100 bounty for such service. An additional bounty of $100 is also allowed to the nearest relative of soldiers who enlisted for a term of three years and who died or were killed in the service, to be paid in the following order: First, to the widow; second, to the children; third, to the father, and fourth, to the mother.

Soldiers' Widows.

By applying to W. H. Woods, of Huntingdon, Huntingdon county, Pa., you can have your pensions increased two dollars a month for each and every child you have, and when the widow has married or died, the children are entitled to the increase.

To all who have brought home the bodies of their friends who died or were killed in the service of the United States, there is a certain amount of compensation allowed you for the expenses incurred in bringing home the bodies of your friends, which you can obtain by making application to me.

Invalid Soldiers, Attention!

The act of Congress, approved June 6, 1866, gives additional pensions to the following class of persons:

Soldiers who have lost both eyes or both hands, $25 per month; who have lost both feet $20 per month; who have lost one hand or one foot, or totally disabled in the same, $15 per month.

Persons who have been deprived of their pensions in consequence of being in the civil service of the United States Government, can be restored to the pension roll by applying to me.

Fathers and mothers who were in whole or in part dependent upon their sons for support are entitled to a pension. Also brothers and sisters under sixteen years of age

All discharged soldiers who did not receive transportation to their places of enlistment when discharged, are entitled to receive it; and also all who were held as prisoners of war, and did not receive commutation of rations when released or discharged, are entitled to it.

Officers who were in the service on the 3d of March, 1865, and were discharged after the 9th of April, 1865, by applying to me can receive three months extra pay.

Soldiers of 1812!

All soldiers, or soldiers' widows, of the war of 1812 who have served two months, or been wounded or disabled in such service, if in necessitous circumstances, are entitled to an annuity of $16.

Local Bounty.

All veteran soldiers who gave their credit to districts in the State of Pennsylvania, and who received no local bounty, are entitled to receive three hundred dollars.

All persons having any of the above-mentioned claims, or any other kind of claim against the United States or State Governments, will please address me, giving full particulars, enclosing a stamp for return postage, and they will receive a prompt reply.

DR. LEON'S
CELEBRATED PREPARATIONS.
THE PERFECTION OF MEDICAL SCIENCE.

Dr. Leon's Electric Hair Renewer.

It is a positive cure for Baldness.
It restores a Gray Hair to its original color.
It is a Tonic, not a Dye, and acts upon the secretions.
It immediately arrests falling out of the hair.
It alleviates Neuralgia and Headache.
It radically cures Dandruff and Humors.
It keeps the scalp healthy, clean and cool.
It is an elegant and exquisitely fragrant Hair Dressing
It restores, cultivates and beautifies the hair.
It makes harsh hair flexible and lustrous.

Dr. Leon's Electric Hair Renewer has enjoyed a high local reputation for many years. Its wonderful restorative and invigorating properties are well known to the Medical Faculty of Philadelphia.

Being fully satisfied of the merits of Leon's Electric Hair Renewer, we have procured exclusive ownership, and are determined that every household in our land shall have opportunity to reap its benefits.

DR. LEON'S INFANT REMEDY.

A most delicious and efficacious cure for the various ills to which Infants and Young Children are subject.

Invaluable for Teething Children!

It softens the gums, abates inflammation, invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and is a sure and speedy cure for Colic, Cramps and Windy Pains.

A most excellent preparation for children of a restless and fretful habit, and in all cases of Looseness, Griping, Vomiting, or other inward grief, it gives immediate ease.

Used for more than half a century in the private practice of one of the most eminent physicians of Philadelphia.

In now placing this article within the reach of all our countrymen, we would remark that we know it to be a Remedy of unrivaled excellence and that it has proved in thousands of cases, as we are resolved it shall in millions, a priceless boon.

AT REDUCED PRICES.

TEN YEARS diligent attention to business in the Hardware trade in this place, has given me an experience that enables me to secure great advantages for my customers in the selection of the best standard brands and reliable qualities of goods.

Having just returned from New York and Philadelphia with a splendid stock, bought since the recent decline in gold, I am now offering great inducements to buyers.

Among my stock may be found

WHAT EVERYBODY WANTS.

TOOLS AND MATERIALS FOR

Carpenters, Blacksmiths, Gunsmiths, Shoemakers, Saddlers, Painters, Coachmakers, Cabinet Makers, Machinists, Foundrymen, And for all other kinds of Mechanics.

FARMERS

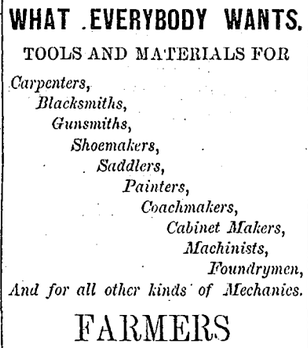
Will find in my stock a great variety of Farming Implements of the best quality, such as

Scythes, Rakes, Forks, Shovels, Spades, Hoes, Garden Trowels, Garden Hoes, Garden Rakes, Grass Hooks, Pruning Shears, Pruning Saws, Pruning Knives. &c., &c

Every farmer should see the famous

HARPOON HAY FORK!

It is the wonder of the age; and one trial convinces the most skeptical that it is the best Hay Fork made.—I have the agency for the sale of these forks for Huntingdon and parts of Bedford and Fulton counties and can fill orders for Forks, pullies and ropes at manufacturers prices.



I have also the celebrated

PALMER HORSE FORKS

Which have given such good satisfaction for the last 3 years, and which I am now selling at greatly reduced prices.

I have an endless assortment of

LOCKS, HINGES, SCREWS, BRADS, PAINTS, GLASS, PUTTY,

VARNISHES, &C.

DUNCANNON NAIL AGENCY.

Our best mechanics say that the

DUNCANNON NAILS

are the best brought to this market. I have the agency for the sale of these nails and spikes, and can be supplied promptly in quantities from one pound to one hundred kegs, at manufacturers' prices.

DEALERS, BUILDERS, and others,

HARRISBURG STONEWARE,

EARTHENWARE AND HOLLOWWARE,

all sold low for cash.

Cheap

WOODEN PUMPS!

The merit of these pumps is shown by the fact that the demand for them is rapidly increasing everywhere. There is no iron in them to corrode and injure the water. They are light and convenient, so that every man can put in his own pump, the whole only costing him about one half the price of other pumps. Pumps, and wooden pipe to suit them, promptly shipped by railroad on receipt of orders. Give depth from floor to bottom of well.

Thankful for the patronage I have hitherto received I shall continue my endeavors to suit, accommodate and please all, and respectfully solicit a liberal share of public patronage.

BROUGHER'S PATENT EXCELSIOR

BROOM HEAD OR WRAPPER.

PATENTED DECEMBER 26, 1866.

Everybody his own Broom Maker.

This head or Wrapper is constructed of Tin or Zinc, with sliding band and bolts, in connection with the centre bolt passing thro' the handle, holding it secure.

The article to which we call your attention is very simple, light and strong, weighing but SEVEN OUNCES.

The farming community have long needed an article of this character; and the high price of Brooms, together with the simplicity, durability, and practical utility of this invention makes it more saleable than any other article ever introduced.

☞ We offer borough, township, and family rights for sale on reasonable terms, in the county of Huntingdon.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

TO THE LADIES.—Do you really intend to cease wearing the beautiful styles now so prevalent, or dress less elegantly, because the rebel Jeff. Davis, was captured in Fashionable Female attire? One moment's calm reflection will surely serve to change your rash resolve. The angels had too much good sense to lay aside their pure chaste robes of white, because they had for a time served to hide the deformities of that Prince of Rebels, the Devil. Can you err in following the example of Angels? Then having made up your minds that you will continue to dress tastefully regardless of rebel acts, do not forget to call at the store of the subscribers, who will be happy at all times to furnish you with such articles of dress as you may desire. Urge your faithers, husbands, brothers, neighbors and children to visit the same store. They can here be suited in good articles of Boots, Shoes, Clothing Material, Hats, Caps, Queensware and a general assortment of Groceries, on as reasonable terms as at any House in town. Store on Southeast corner of the Diamond, Huntingdon, Pa.

LATEST FASHIONS DEMAND

J. W. Bradley's Celebrated Patent Duplex Elliptic, or Double Spring,

SKIRT.

The wonderful Flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, operas, carriages, railroad cars, church pews, arm chairs, for promenade and house dress, as the skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any single spring skirt.

A lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort, and great convenience of wearing the duplex elliptic steel spring skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For children, misses and young ladies they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the single spring but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs, but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging upon stoops, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in crinoline, viz: superior quality, perfect manufacture, stylish shape and finish, flexibility, durability, comfort and economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or double spring skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION—To guard against imposition be particular to notice that skirts offered as "Duplex" have the red ink stamp, viz: "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs" upon the waist band—none others are genuine. Also notice that every hoop will admit a pin being passed through the centre, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other spring.

For sale in all stores where first class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere.

Manufactured by the sole owners of the patent.
